

Teaching Handouts: Power Relations

PEOPLE POWER WHO SPEAKS LOUDEST?

List all the important voice or points of view that need to be heard in your project.

List all the experts or academic and literary sources that have influenced your project.

Create a hierarchy for the speakers and their knowledge.

Who should speak first?

Who should get the last word?

Who speaks longest?

Whose voice is most influential?

Whose voice is most emotional?

Whose voice is most factual?

Whose voice represents the larger society's view?

Which voices speak to one another?

Which voices contradict each other?

When will the academic experts get to speak?

Which voice is yours?

Which voice is heroic?

Nancy Mack
Wright State University