Program description

The Education Specialist degree program in Curriculum, Instruction, & Professional Development is designed for educators who wish to expand their knowledge and skills in the areas of curriculum and instruction. The education arena of the 21st Century requires educational leaders who have the knowledge, skills, and dispositions to positively affect teaching and learning at all levels. This program both deepens teachers' understanding of curriculum and prepares them to lead others in curriculum development. This 10-course (30 credit hour) program offers courses that address the ELCC district-level standards. The program does not lead to an initial teaching license. Students who hold a current Ohio teaching license, have at least three years of classroom teaching experience, and pass the appropriate licensure exam, will qualify for the Administrative Specialist: Curriculum, Instruction, & Professional Development district level license upon completion of the program.

*Note about enrollment and degrees awarded:

Prior to Spring Semester 2013, the CIPD program was a licensure-only program. Students in the CIPD program before Spring 2013 earned the Ohio CIPD license only, not a degree. This is why it appears that the program had 0 enrollment for 2009-2012. As of Spring 2013, we began offering it as an Ed.S. program through which students can earn both a degree and a license.

During Fall Semester 2014, the first two CIPD Ed.S. students will receive their degrees.

Alignment with university mission, strategic plan

The CIPD program addresses and aligns with the WSU mission and strategic plan. The program aligns with the mission by building a solid foundation for student success through our high quality program, and empowering all of our students and faculty to develop professionally, intellectually, and personally. Strategic Plan Goal 1, Objectives A and B, Goal 2, Objective C, and Goal 4, Objectives B and C, are addressed in the coursework and practicum components of our program.

Program distinctiveness

Other than the Superintendent program, this program offers the Ed.S. degree, which is not offered in any other programs in the College of Education and Human Services.

The program not only offers the prestigious Ed.S. degree, but candidates completing the requirements will also be eligible for the CIPD license in Ohio.

The program is offered entirely online, which benefits many practicing school leaders in full time administrative positions.

Recognitions of quality of the program

The program met all six NCATE Standards with no cited weaknesses or areas for improvement. After the last review, the program received ELCC National Recognition, NCATE Accreditation, and approval from ODE/OBR.

Program learning outcomes

The CIPD program learning outcomes are based on the ELCC standards. Many of the coursework outcomes are aligned according to these standards. See Table 1 below.

Description of description of learning outcomes assessment program

The Ohio Assessment for Educators is the new assessment instrument for those seeking administrative type licensure. The test supersedes the Praxix II assessment instrument, and has been used since the beginning of the 2013-14 school year. No candidates in CIPD program have taken the test.

b. Description of assessments aligning with ELCC standards:

Ohio Assessment for Educators align with the ELCC standards, as described in Table 1.

Summary of assessment findings for past five years

N/A – No Ed. S. graduates within the last five years.

Major curricular changes since last review (or past five years)

The Curriculum, Instruction, Professional Development (CIPD) program was changed from a licensure only set of coursework to include an Ed.S. degree. With very few candidates enrolling for licensure only, the program was changed in order to offer more training and knowledge base coursework, giving candidates extensive learning opportunities. New rubrics have been created for all major assignments in each course, that address ELCC standards. Courses were updated to reflect the change from the quarter to semester system.

The Ed.S. CIPD Program was developed and initiated in 2013. We are currently building the program through recruitment and marketing.

Graduate placement data, employer satisfaction

N/A – No Ed.S. graduates within the last five years.

If program has professional accreditation, attach most recent review findings and recommendations

ELCC National Recognition, NCATE Accredited, and ODE/OBR approved.

The program met all six NCATE Standards (2008) with no cited weaknesses or areas for improvement.

The program gained initial approval to be offered at WSU in 1996.

Faculty accomplishments and recognitions

There are four(4) full-time faculty assigned to teach in this program, along with several highly qualified adjuncts that are skilled in this particular leadership area. Two of the full-time faculty are full professors, one is an associate professor, and the instructor is a former school curriculum director and superintendent.

One full-time professor teaching in the program has had experience as president, leading a statewide organization for professors of educational administration.

One full-time professor has been on the board of directors of a national organization for educational research.

One full-time professor has experience as a superintendent and curriculum director in an Ohio Pre-K-12 public school district.

Both full-time professors and associate professor publish on a regular basis in peer-reviewed journals.

Programs and areas of recognized excellence with supporting evidence

See top of page 2.

Capacity for growth of programs

Based on this school year recruitment efforts by Allyson Copper, the potential for program growth is optimistic. Ten school leaders are enrolled at this time.

New program opportunities

We have a working relationship with Academic Partners, which now markets and provides opportunities for professional educators to enroll in our program. This relationship, along with our own recruiting efforts, enhances and expands the program to be offered to educators living anywhere in the United States.
