What is a FAFSA Adjustment?

The 2022-23 Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) requires students to provide household and 2020 tax information. For independent students, this includes spouse information, if married. For dependent students, this includes information for parents. The U.S. Department of Education uses this information when calculating the Expected Family Contribution (EFC). The EFC figure represents a family's ability to contribute to a student's college expenses.

Sometimes there may be a special circumstance not reflected on the FAFSA that reduces a family's ability to pay for college and education-related expenses. Situations can include:

- losing a job
- a reduction in taxed or untaxed income
- a large amount of healthcare expenses paid
- a parent attending college
- a change in parents' marital status after the FAFSA was completed
- tuition expenses paid for a dependent child attending elementary or secondary school
- an event where a higher than normal income amount was reported on the FAFSA, such as: an inheritance, withdrawal of retirement funds, or a settlement, and those funds were spent for something specific that cannot be categorized as regular life expenses.

Verification Requirement:

Students are required to complete the FAFSA verification process before the Wright State University Office of Financial Aid (OFA) can review their FAFSA Adjustment request. If a student has not already been selected for verification by the U.S. Department of Education, the OFA will assign verification requirements when their FAFSA Adjustment Form is received. Added requirements for this process can be viewed in WINGS Express.

For 2022-23:

If your special circumstance involves a Loss of Income, you will need to choose which tax year (2021 or 2022) you would like the Wright State University OFA to review. The FAFSA Adjustment Form has checkboxes for you to pick an option. Follow the instructions on the form to submit the appropriate documents for your option.

Example from the FAFSA Adjustment Form:

If income loss is due to a job loss or reduction in pay, write in job loss date and select Option 1 or Option 2.
➡ Job Loss Date: _____	➡ <input type="checkbox"/> Option 1 - Income loss is reflected on 2021 federal tax return
	<input type="checkbox"/> Option 2 - Income loss is for the current year 2022

Important Note:

If your special circumstance is due to a job loss, it must be 12 weeks since unemployment began before the OFA can process your form. An OFA team member will contact you at the phone number listed on your FAFSA Adjustment Form to explain the process further if the 12 weeks has not already passed. When the 12-week period for the job loss has passed, you will be contacted to provide updated documentation that reflects your current financial situation. This includes copies of last paystubs, documentation of pay from unemployment, and other income amounts expected to be received in 2022. Documentation of amounts received from other types of income, such as bonuses and severance pay, will also be required.

FAFSA Adjustment - Process

Students must submit the FAFSA Adjustment form and provide all supporting documentation to Raider Connect no later than February 15, 2023. Submitting the FAFSA Adjustment form does not guarantee the student's EFC will be adjusted. The OFA will notify students via their Wright State University email when the review is complete.

Please be sure to sign SECTION G before submitting the FAFSA Adjustment Form.
