

Application Requirements for International Graduate Students

Major (Degree)	Industrial and Human Factors Engineering (Master of Science)
College	College of Engineering and Computer Science
Program Description
The Department of Biomedical, Industrial, and Human Factors Engineering offers a program of graduate study leading to a Master in industrial and human factors engineering. The MS program is broad in scope and covers all engineering disciplines represented at Wright State University. However, the specialization in Industrial and Human Factors Engineering allows a very flexible program of study that involves all research areas covered by the program. The MSE in Industrial and Human Factors Engineering can also be obtained entirely or partially through distance learning courses.
