

WORKING WITH A WRITING COACH REMOTELY

SEND YOUR PAPER EARLY

Don't wait until it's due! Send your request and attached document to writingctr@wright.edu as early as possible. We try to provide feedback within 24 hours. Please use your Wright State email address, and include: Your name, class, instructor, and due date.

For soonest response, send your request between 8am Monday and 3pm Friday.

ASK QUESTIONS - BE SPECIFIC!

In addition to any assignment sheets, guidelines, or rubrics that might help us understand your assignment, include questions you have about the writing process or specific areas you'd like your Coach to focus on.

READ YOUR FEEDBACK CAREFULLY

In their feedback, your Writing Coach will try to answer all your questions, highlight strengths, and suggest areas to revise. Review your own document with these suggestions, and consider if and how you might implement the changes.

REVISE, REVISE, REVISE

Your Coach won't edit your paper for you, so the decisions are up to you! Make the decided upon changes to your document. Check that your organization and tone are consistent. Don't be afraid to make new changes as you revise!

REVIEW YOUR CHANGES

Once you've made the changes, you'll want to double-check to be sure your paper looks and sounds the way you want it to. If you've only had one UWC session this week, consider making a second appointment with a Writing Coach!

LET US KNOW HOW WE DID

Don't forget to fill out the Evaluation of a Writing Center Session form provided in your feedback email. We love to hear about your experience and any comments or suggestions you have for us!

We're here for you, Raiders!
