Freshman Outdoor Orientation Trip

FOOT is a unique wilderness experience that will take place the week before school begins. Trained upperclassmen lead backpacking trips along the Appalachian Trail in Tennessee.

FOOT offers an amazing opportunity for incoming students to meet a small group of new classmates and establish relationships with older student leaders.

Participants will hike, camp, cook outdoors, play games, swim in waterfalls, and spend a day giving back to the mountains by learning how to build and maintain hiking trails.

These trips are designed for all levels of experience; no prior backpacking experience necessary.

Cost: $400

Includes transportation from WSU, trip leaders, permits, camping fees, meals, stay in hostel, and major backpacking gear including tents, backpacks, sleeping bags, sleeping pads, and kitchen supplies.
