

Be a Volunteer

We rely on 100+ volunteers each week to make our mission a reality.

Ready to get involved?

Class Volunteer - TRI relies on volunteers to serve as side helpers and horse leaders. You must be at least 14 years old to volunteer.

Barn Volunteer - Barn volunteers are out in the barn each morning assisting a TRI staff member in tasks such as cleaning stalls, sweeping aislesways, cleaning feed tubs and water buckets and any other assigned tasks. These chores typically run 8:30 – 11am every morning of the week. If barn chores are your thing, this is a great opportunity for you!

Office Volunteer - TRI utilizes the help of office volunteers to complete various administrative tasks that need to be done. This is a great opportunity for those who would prefer an indoor job or have a knack for data entry or crafting.

Group Volunteer Opportunities - TRI welcomes all service groups or businesses that are looking for hours to volunteer as a group. We have a variety of projects always needing completed around the farm and in the office and appreciate the help!

Programs

TRI enhances the lives of those with physical, cognitive, and emotional challenges through therapeutic riding experiences that provide a safe, supportive, and effective environment for all horses to experience the transformative power of riding.

When riding, horses are not limited by their physical abilities. They do not rely on their hooves to move, rather they partner with their riders to move. Through our lessons, summer camps, and other programs, TRI has been using horses as an effective tool in therapy for children and adults of all ages. Through our therapeutic riding lessons, unmounted instruction, and wellness programs, TRI provides a safe, effective, and transformative experience for all horses to experience the healing power of the horse. Our 23-acre farm provides riding and growth in many programs and our volunteers.

Our Students

Why we TRI

Students benefit from therapeutic horseback riding by gaining:

- Increased physical strength
- Improved balance, spatial awareness, and visual perception
- Improved cognitive function, hand-eye coordination, and reasoning
- Enhanced self-confidence, social skills, and independence

Serving children and adults with special needs, challenges and circumstances such as:

- ADD/ADHD
- Anxiety
- Autism Spectrum Disorder
- Cerebral Palsy
- Development Delay
- Learning Disabilities
- Down Syndrome
- Emotional Challenges
- Behavioral Challenges
- Hearing Impairment
- Vision Impairment
- Multiple Sclerosis
- Spina Bifida

Funding

Our programs not only help our riders improve physical strength and balance, but also leverage the benefits of the human/horse bond to help people learn respect, build confidence, improve self-esteem, and learn the art of teamwork.

That's where you come in.

Your support helps defray true costs of service for our riding program by covering a portion of the actual cost not covered by student fees. At TRI we are committed to keeping costs affordable for our families. This includes covering the costs of our horses, facility, trained volunteers, and certified PATH instructors.

Here are a few ways to support TRI:

Our Programs

TRI enhances the lives of those with physical, cognitive, and emotional challenges through transformative experiences with our horses.

When riding, individuals are not limited by what their body does. They do not rely on their wheelchairs or their voice, rather they partner with the horse to take them to places that they could not otherwise go. Since 1973, TRI has been using Equine Assisted Activities as an effective tool in the rehabilitation of children and adults of all ages who have experienced the healing power of the horse through adaptive riding lessons, unmounted lessons, summer camps, and wellness programs. Our PATH International, Premiere Accredited Center, provides safe and effective programs through our Certified Therapeutic Riding Instructors and our Equine Specialists in Mental Health and Learning. Our 23-acre farm provides opportunities for learning and growth in many facets of life for our students and our volunteers.
