

WRIGHT STATE UNIVERSITY

Department of Leadership Studies in Education and Organizations

Doctorate in Organizational Studies

WHY WRIGHT STATE?

The Doctoral Program of Organizational Studies (DOS) has an interdisciplinary approach to the study of content, theories, and research critical to the success of leaders and organizations in a variety of settings. Core courses address systems theory, adaptive leadership, decision-making, change, structure, personnel roles and functions, external relations, planning, program evaluation, strategic planning, research, and organizational behavior.

OUR PROGRAM

- Executive level internship experiences
- Rigorous quantitative and qualitative research skills
- Small class size
- Night classes for working professionals
- Salary/Position booster for graduates

ASK ABOUT THE OPTIONAL PROGRAM EVALUATION CERTIFICATE

Thursday, February 8

4-6 p.m.

In-Person

Monday, March 18

6-7 p.m.

Virtual

Wednesday, April 24

6-7 p.m.

Virtual

To learn more about the Program, please contact:

Dr. Yoko Miura

Director of the Ed.D. Program in Organizational Studies

yoko.miura@wright.edu

937-775-3282

Elizabeth Styers

Program Coordinator

Elizabeth.Styers@wright.edu

(937)-775-2518

wright.edu/ed-dos

WRIGHT STATE UNIVERSITY